CLEWS FORGETS HIMSELF.

Henry Clews, the New York banker who is constantly writing for the press, and whose stock in trade is to tell us that under free coinage we will have 50 cent dollars, puts his foot in it in his letter of July 25. He proves that his past statements have been unsound and that our dollar would be worth as much as a gold dollar. Read his statement:

"The enactment of a free, independent 16 to 1 silver law would work out its own destruction by the following means, even independent of others:

"At the present time the Mexican silver dollar brings in this country only about 54 cents in exchange for our silver dollar, although it contains a larger quantity of silver than ours does. It is simply taken here at its commercial value whereas the United States silver dollar goes in Mexico in its purchasing power for two of their dollars. It is quite evident, therefore, if the United States government should pass a free and independent 16 to 1 coinage law, the Mexican government would, if they are smart, immediately pass a law to adopt the United States dollar as the money of their country in substitution of their present standard, and make it mandatory for all Mexican silver dollars to be forwarded to the United States mints to be converted into United States dollars. The Mexican dollar, now only worth 54 cents, after being melted down by the United States mints and coined into United States dollars would be worth double its present value, have twice the purchasing power and would carry as well a credit of 2 cents, that being the bullion value of the Mexican dollar above the United States dollar."

A CONSISTENT LIAR.

The Oregonian keeps insisting that under free coinage the Mexicans will bring their silver bullion to our mints and get gold for them, and thus take our gold out of the country. Thus it nails its own lie that our dollars will be 50 cent dollars under free coinage. But admitting that such would be the case, the Mexican would have to take silver dollars for his silver bullion, and before he could trade those for gold he would be compelled to do considerable business in this country. But when the great gold paper made this statement it also forgot that it has always said that gold will go to a premium under free coinage. If this should be true the other would be impossible, and vice versa. So the editor of the Oregonian writes himself down as a misrepresenter in either case, and he can probably prove it.

Camp John A. Logan at Mehama.
EDITOR JOURNAL:—I am requested by the committee to say to the readers of the JOURNAL and to the public generally that the above named camp is now ready and in ample shape for the reception and comfort of all who may wish to honor them with their presence this year.

It is hardly necessary for me to say to the old soldier that this encampment is our anniversary and we expect to see them all here for several reasons. First place, the hand of nature dealt lavishly with this beautiful spot, with the ever bubbling waters of the Santiam singing its lullaby along the south side of the camp, and the crystal stream of trout brook rippling on the north margin of the grounds with a solid canopy of beautiful vine maple over head, one can hardly conceive a more lovely spot for the people of the surrounding country to spend their summer outing during the few hot weeks of the season. Everything for our comfort right at hand and a chance to try your skill at hooking the nimble trout on every side with the bracing mountain atmosphere to sharpen our appetite. It forces the thought to one's mind of these lines which runs thus: "Lives there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself hath said, this is my own, my native land." It seems to me that there could not be a more lovely spot on earth for a family to spend a few weeks outing. The encampment proper will commence on Monday, August 3, when the committee will be glad to welcome all who care to favor them with their presence and will endeavor to have good speakers and other exercises appropriate for the occasion. Come one come all and listen to the bugle's call at camp John A. Logan.

Very respectfully yours,
J. R. F.

The O. A. C.

The Corvallis Times, after harshly criticizing the election of Hon. H. B. Miller as president, in a two-column article, says: The election of Mr. Miller to the presidency was followed by the creation of a position hitherto unknown at the college, that of dean, to fill which Prof. Berchold, the oldest member of the faculty, was selected. The duties of the dean were left by the board to be fixed by President Miller and his faculty. Prof. Berchold's salary of $1,500 per year was not changed. The selection of Prof. Berchold for the place was deserved, and it gives universal satisfaction. Miss Helen B. Crawford, of Albany, was selected to fill a new chair of elocution, established at the annual meeting of the board. She is a graduate of the school of oratory of the Willamette University, whose president is a university man, and is doubtless accomplished in her line. She received eight votes, four other votes going to a young lady from Eugene and one to Miss Galloway, of McMinnville.

"Herbert Condon, aged 22, son of Prof. Condon, was named as stenographer, accountant and private secretary to the president. He is a personal friend of the new president. His salary is $1,000 per year. He takes the place filled acceptably by Captain Crawford.

"The position of college printer falls upon George Clark and Lester Leland, neither of whom are printers, and the salary of each is $500 per year."
